

RENT REVIEWS

Agricultural Tenancies
Limited Duration Tenancy

FREQUENCY

The parties are free to contract in the lease for a rent review at such frequency as they see fit. In the absence of any provision in the lease, rent reviews will take place on such date as the landlord or tenant may specify in a formal written notice to the other provided that –

- notice must be given by one party to the other at least one year (but no more than two) before the selected date, and
- a minimum of three years has elapsed since
  - the commencement of the tenancy, or
  - in the case of a subsequent rent review the date of the last rent review.

There is nothing to prevent the parties agreeing between themselves to have the rent reviewed within the three years period, but this will preclude further review until another three years have passed.

There are other occasions when the rent may be varied, such as where land is resumed or where the landlord has made an improvement. Specialist advice on variation of the rent should be obtained in these circumstances.

The new rent, once determined, takes effect from the date of the rent review date.

WHAT IS TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT

The starting point for the statutory rent review formula is that the rent must be an open market rent between a willing landlord and a willing tenant.

There must be disregarded –

- any effect on the rent due to the fact that the tenant is in occupation of the land, and
- any distortion in rent due to scarcity of lets.

Regard must be had to –

- the terms of the tenancy
- information about rents for other agricultural tenancies (including when fixed) and any factors affecting those rents (or any of them) except any distortion due to scarcity of lets, and
- the current economic conditions in the relevant sector of agriculture.

Account is to be taken of any increase in the rental value of the land resulting from the use of the land for a purpose that is not an agricultural purpose. This may apply where the tenant has exercised his right to diversify.

No account is to be taken of any increase in rental value resulting from improvements where

- they have been carried out wholly or partly at the expense of the tenant (irrespective of whether the tenant receives reimbursement by way of a grant for the works) without equivalent allowance or benefit having been made or given by the landlord in consideration of the works
- they have not been carried out under an obligation imposed on the tenant in terms of the lease, and
- they have been carried out by the landlord in so far as the landlord will receive a grant in respect of such works.

In addition, the rent may not be a higher amount than would have been payable if the improvements had not been carried out.

No account is to be taken of –

- any reduction in the rental value of the land as a result of any dilapidation or deterioration of, or damage to, fixed equipment or land caused or permitted by the tenant, or
- any such reduction resulting from –
  - use of any of the land or changes to the land for a purpose which is not an agricultural purpose, or
  - the carrying out of conservation activities on the land.

THE DECISION MAKING PROCESS

A formal statutory rent review is determined by the Scottish Land Court. This will be on the application of the party demanding the rent review.

Disclaimer - The above information is a summary of the main legal provisions and given for general information only. It is not a full statement of the law and detailed advice should always be obtained from a suitably experienced solicitor. Accordingly Gillespie Macandrew LLP does not accept any liability for the information given or any resulting action taken by any person. Gillespie Macandrew LLP is a limited liability partnership, registered in Scotland number SO300743. Authorised and regulated by the Financial Services Authority.